BUTLER, Mo., Dec. 31, 1874.

EDITOR JOURNAL:—The village of Vinton, on the banks of Raccoon, Gallia county, has been the little world, so to speak, of all my life.

till within the last five years. During these three years of this time I have been a subscriber of the JOURNAL, therefore excuse the liberty I take in sending you the following lines for publication:

Whatever Lies Before Me.

Within the past the dead year lies shrouded away forever;

Filled, like the years that went before, With failure and endeavor.

The days were not all sunny bright, Over the blue clouds drifted;

And many a night was starless, too; Life was not sorrow-sifted.

My feet have slipped, my strength has failed, My hands have grown so weary,

That sometimes I well might forget That, though my path was weary,

'Twould sometimes turn; that farther on Gloom might be lost in beauty;

For good pleasure, now and then, Goes hand in hand with duty!

I know not what this year will bring, But this I know for certain:

Whatever's hidden now for me Behind Time's shadowy curtain—

The strength will come to bear it all, Though much of it be sorrow;

And God will give us good enough, And more, in every morrow.

MRS. L. M. LUCAS.

DECLARATION OF PURPOSES.

Adopted by the National Grange at its Seventh Annual Session.

PREAMBLE.

Profoundly impressed with the truth, that the National Grange of the United States should definitely proclaim to the world its general objects, we hereby unanimously make this Declaration of Purposes of the Patrons of Husbandry:

GENERAL OBJECTS.

We shall endeavor to advance our cause by laboring to accomplish the following objects:

To develop a better and higher manhood and womanhood among ourselves.

To enhance the comforts and attraction of our homes, and strengthen our attachments to our pursuits.

To foster mutual understanding and co-operation. To maintain inviolate our laws, and to emulate each other in labor to hasten the good time coming.

To reduce our expenses, both individual and corporate.

To buy less and produce more, in order to make our farms self-sustaining.

To diversify our crops and crop no more than we cultivate.

To condense the weight of our exports, selling less in the bushel and more on the hoof and in fleece.

To systemize our work and calculate intelligently on probabilities.

To discountenance the credit system, the mortgage system, the fashion system, and every other system tending to prodigality and bankruptcy.

We propose meeting together, talking together, working together, buying together, selling together, and in general acting together for our mutual protection and advancement, as occasion may require.

We shall avoid litigation as much as possible by arbitration in the Grange.

We shall constantly strive to secure harmony, good will, vital brotherhood among ourselves, and to make our Order perpetual.

We shall earnestly endeavor to suppress personal, local, sectional and national prejudices, all unhealthy rivalry, all selfish ambition.

Faithful adherence to these principles will insure our mental, moral, social and material advancement.

BUSINESS RELATIONS.

For our business interests, we desire to bring producers and consumers, farmers and manufacturers into the most direct and friendly relations possible.

Hence we propose to do business with a surplus of middlemen, not that we are unfriendly to them, but that we do not need them. This surplus and their exactions diminish our profit.

We wage no aggressive warfare against any other interests whatever.

On the contrary, all our acts and all our efforts, so far as business is concerned, are for the common benefit of the producer and consumer, but also for all other interests that tend to bring these two parties into speedy and economical contact.

Hence, we hold that transportation companies of every kind are necessary to our success, that their interests are intimately connected with our interests, and harmonious action is mutually advantageous, keeping in view the first sentence in our declaration of principles of action that "Individual happiness depends upon general prosperity."

We shall, therefore, advocate for every State the increase in every practicable way of all facilities for transporting cheaply to the seaboard, or between home producers and consumers, all the productions of the country.

We adopt it as our fixed purpose to "open out the channels in nature's great arteries that the life blood of commerce may flow freely."

We are not enemies of railroads, navigable and irrigating canals, nor of any corporation that will advance our industrial interests, nor of any laboring classes.

In our noble Order there is no communism, no socialism.

We are opposed to such spirit and management of any corporation or enterprise as tends to oppress the people and rob them of their just profit. We are not enemies to capital, but we oppose the tyranny of monopolies.

We long to see the antagonism between capital and labor removed by common consent, and by an enlightened statesmanship worthy of the nineteenth century.

We are opposed to excessive salaries, high rates of interest and exorbitant per cent profits in trade.

They greatly increase our burdens, and do not bear a proper proportion to the profits of producers.

We desire only self-protection and the protection of every true interest of our land by legitimate transactions, legitimate trade and legitimate profits.

EDUCATION.

We shall advance the cause of education among ourselves and for our children, by all just means within our power.

We especially advocate for our agricultural and industrial colleges, that practical agricultural, domestic science, and all the arts which adorn the home, be taught in their course of study.

THE GRANGE NOT PARTISAN.

We emphatically and sincerely assent to the oft-repeated truth, taught in our organic law that the Grange, National, State, or Subordinate, is not a political or party organization.

No Grange, if true to its obligations, can discuss political or religious questions, nor call political conventions, or nominate candidates, nor even discuss their merits in its meetings.

Yet the principles we teach underlie all true politics, all true statesmanship, and if properly carried out, will tend to purify the whole political atmosphere of our country.

For we seek the greatest good to the greatest number.

We must always bear in mind that no one by becoming a Patron of Husbandry, gives up that inalienable right and duty which belongs to every American citizen, to take a proper interest in the politics of his country.
